

Talking to Your Parent's Doctor

CBC Calgary Radio One 1010AM
Wildrose Columnist: ElderWise®
Tuesday, February 10th, 1:15 pm (MST)
"Talking to your parent's doctor"
Listen on-line: <http://www.cbc.ca/calgary/audio>

Previously, we wrote about the three things to consider if you want to talk to your parent's doctor.
ElderWise Info Vol. 3:17 <http://www.elderwise.ca/newsletter3-17.html>

Here are the three most important questions to ask the doctor.

- What is the problem?
- What do I need to know about my parent's health problem?
- What can I do to help my parent?

You can ask these questions whether you are accompanying your parent or scheduling your own appointment to talk to your parent's doctor.

Resources NEW

January 2009. The Health Quality Council of Alberta publication "It's Okay to Ask" provides valuable information about questions to ask your health care provider.

You can get a copy from the website <http://www.hqca.ca/index.php?id=69>

More Information
Tel: 403-237-5746
1-877-237-5743